

GRAFTON TAKES SCOTSDALE'S PLACE IN PAWYA LEAGUE.

Franchise Taken Over By West Virginia Town Yesterday.

ASSUME NEW NAME TODAY

Millers Are Still In Uncertain State as to Management of Team—Sweeney Will Act Until Agreement is Reached With New Board of Directors of Team.

Scottville, the tailenders of the Pawnee league, is now Grafton. At a meeting of President Groninger of the league and the Grafton Tracton Committee, held last afternoon, the latter company decided to offer the franchise. From today on the over the miller bunch will be formally known as Grafton.

Grafton plays today and tomorrow at Scottville, going to their new home on Thursday for a game with Fairmont. Grafton is a fair-sized town about 22 miles east of Clarksville, connected to that town by trail line, and should make a good team. It is a town of 1500 people, and the trolley lines in West Virginia to the teams, as it is on the local West Penn lines, and this should cut down expenses considerably.

To add to the troubles of the Grafton players, yesterday afternoon the franchise was given away for nothing to give them their counterparts.

The management of the new team is still in doubt. Manager Sweeney of the former Scotland bench stated this morning that although he would continue as manager of the team if requested to do so, he was not anxious for the job and would cheerfully step down and out. If asked, "Backwheel?"

been mentioned for the job, but it is a well-known fact that "Buckwheat" is down and out as far as baseball is concerned, and that the Fairmont team takes that means to get rid of him. It is supposed that some good minor league manager who has a reputation will be elected to the position.

LEAVES PICTURE OF GIRL AS FORFEIT.

Man Arrested for Drunkenness Offers Locket Containing Photograph.
Prisoner Tells Story.

Five drunks were before Burgess A. D. Saksen this morning for sentence and all of them got the usual penalty of 48 hours' imprisonment. Jerry Blackburn was among the number and produced a locket containing his girl's picture as a forfeit. Burgess Solsson was rather inquisitive regarding it and the prisoner told the story. His girl in McKeesport had it for him

When it was opened it disclosed the picture of a woman the Burgess knew was not his steady regular and inquired if his girl would not want it back.

"Don't you worry, Burgess; she's done with me and won't want the things back again." It was accepted in lieu of the fine of $3.50, but Jerry promised to redeem it. It has been quite a while since Jerry fell by the wayside; and he promised to make another effort to be good.

It's Intended for You-- Come to the July Clearance Sale

There is only one July Clearance Sale. There is no other just as good—if there was ours would not be so popular. But there are plenty of weak little imitations—that make a spurt and sizzle out.

Nothing pleases us more than these imitations. We will admit being a little vain—we are proud of our leadership because it is significant. We know our patrons abide by the old rule—"Imitation is Flattery."

It's easy to imitate our sales—any store can do that. But here's where the stick comes. They can't equal our bargains—they are inimitable. Try to match them elsewhere.

And we are beating our own best bargain-giving records this year.

We have decided to discontinue the carrying of piece goods of all kinds and have included all our stocks of these in this sale at never-equalled low prices.

day. Thus the extreme variation in suspended matter is 6.7 times the average amount and the variation in dissolved matter is 10 times the average amount.

The dissolved mineral matter is composed of the following ions: Sulfate 10 per cent, iron 11.2 per cent, calcium 11.7 per cent, magnesium 14 per cent, sodium and potassium 19 per cent, sulphate 21 per cent, and chlorine 21 per cent. So much acid is thrown into the stream from the pickling wastes of iron and galvanizing works that free acid is found in the water except during flood stages. The conditions combine to render the stream, as McKeesport is unavailable for many industrial purposes. Treatment by the usual softening process will greatly improve the quality of the water.

All this is doubtless true but if the complaints of the Monongahela valley, newspapers as founded in 1811, on the waters of that stream are more dangerous to life and health than the dirtiest Yough solution of sulphur and acids. The Yough river water is disagreeable but not destructive to life. The Monongahela river water is said to abound in bacilli, the germ which is born of sewage and which breeds disease. The waters of the Yough are not healthy for the cattle. They don't take kindly to the acid and sulphur diet. Humanity on the other hand can stand the sulphur and the acids better as a diet than they can stand the germs for drinking purposes. Therefore the Yough water at McKeesport is healthier than the Monongahela river water. But both might be improved upon.

The Washington Reporter makes an earnest plea for the marking of the old historical landmarks. It says that should be headed by the people of Washington. During the centennial celebration of Conneltsville all the historical spots were marked with appropriate tablets. Fayette county is since a mark of the number of the notable spots. Our sample is evidently contagious and worthy so.

The tide of immigration has turned. The turn is significant. It means the turn of the tide of business in this country. There is no water no sail. Signs. Evidence of coming prosperity multiplies. Ford Liner of the transatlantic platform of Dakota. Dry is again shipping from under his feet.

At least one Monongahela river mine is working full time.

The London Lancet, one of the leading medical journals of the country, has a contemptuous contempt for the dirt in the water of the Yough. It is in the water of the Yough that the dirt with which it becomes solid. This may be so in a limited sense, but the water of the Yough is not a dirt. It never wears it long enough to leave the germ of disease. The Lancet talks like an organ of the laundry trade.

Taft refused the profits of a real elephant as a campaign contribution. The political rules are against big donations this year.

The News says our dissection of its rake circulation is not in the least a grape. They are not in the least a grape. They are not in the least a grape. They are not in the least a grape.

The News expresses sorrow that it is not permitted to please us. It would like to be public to it and be a more popular publication. It is practicing honesty, but its backwardness is not an apologetic and its excuse. If it stood upon its merits it might not stand so high but it would stand taller.

The Scrap Book

Anything For a Change.
"I am tired of seeing that everlasting mackerel brought in for breakfast," grumbled a boarder and I intend to speak to the landlady about it. Some of his fellow victims are complaining but most of them doubt his courage. The matter was under discussion when the landlady appeared. "Miss Fennella began the bold boarder. "I was about to say in regard to the mackerel that we desire a change." "It's good mackerel," responded the landlady grimly, "and there will be no change." "Then for heaven's sake," resumed the bold boarder, "order the girl to bring it in half first for awhile."

NEXT DOOR.
We saw the tapers burn. In the home no closer to ours. But how our hearts might yearn. We dared not send our lovers. He will not understand, we said. "Our loving thoughts of his loved maid." O city, thou art wide. The pity in every heart. Those who are at our side. You under a world apart. A little barrier but of stone. And my neighbor grieves alone along. —Smart Set

Get it Cheap.
"A corruptionist," said a senator "once entered a voter's house. In the voter's absence he pleaded his cause to the man's wife. Finally saying a wretched kitten on the floor he said: 'I'll give you $25 for that animal maid.'" "She accepted those terms." "The corruptionist thrusting the kitten in his pocket rose to go. At the door he said: 'I do hope you can persuade your husband to vote for me again.'" "I'll try to," said the woman, though Jim's hand once to move when his mind's made up but anyhow, you've got a real cheap kitten there. Your opponent was in yesterday and gave me $50 for his brother."

Orders Must Be Obeyed.
"A martinet," said a military officer, "is generally a fool." "They tell a story of a martinet of the civil war, a captain. He got orders from headquarters one day that his men were to change their undershirts. 'But, captain,' said a sergeant to whom this order was communicated, 'the men only have one undershirt each.'"

Uncle Sam—That's just why I can't stand the Democratic party.

ROYCROFT PHILOSOPHY.

By Fra Elbertus Last Aurora Erie County, N. Y.

The captain from the 'Then I said'.

"No matter what the captain's must be observed. Let the man change underwrite with the other."

He Didn't Buy.
Among the older rank of San Francisco says the "Times," there is a class of men who are not in the habit of buying. They are not in the habit of buying. They are not in the habit of buying. They are not in the habit of buying.

BARGAINS THAT ARE NOT ADVERTISED.

Perhaps the best bargains this store has to show are never advertised in these columns. When we find an odd lot of anything or a short piece of goods it is picked at a bargain price and hurried to the bargain tables and chances are sold before an advertisement could reach you. This happens every day of our store. Of course if the quantity should be large enough to merit it we may tell you about it here but its small lots that are never mentioned and because the quantity is so small the prices are very very attractive. That's the reason that it pays you to visit this store and then these bargains. You never know what you may pick up on these bargain tables and really you'll find this store very comfortable these warm days. Also a pleasant room and an easy chair and plenty of cool water to drink. One reason for so many of these bargains just now is that we are determined to empty our shelves of every odd piece or garment. We are already preparing for the coming fall season. Part of our preparation is already completed. Some of our fall goods such as rugs and carpets and some of the curtains are already here. Others are coming along and will soon have some one in the East completing our purchases for fall business. Before these new goods arrive we want to empty our shelves if possible and we ask you to help to do it and these bargain tables are one way we have of making it worth your while to help us. Another thought that you might consider is this. Some one is going to get these bargains so offer why not get your share. Think this over; it's worth considering.
